

February

The American Library Association's Youth Media Awards were just announced. There are many awards given in addition to the well-known Newbery and Caldecott Awards. One of those awards is the Coretta Scott King Book Award, given to outstanding African American authors and illustrators of books for children that offer an appreciation of African American culture and universal human values.

To enter Library Olympics for February:

1. Please read a book that has won the Coretta Scott King Book Award in the past. Books are available in the Park Road Library, or you may choose a book from a list of past titles at this Web site: <http://www.ala.org/rt/emiert/coretta-scott-king-book-awards-all-recipients-1970-present>

(next page, please)

2. Provide the following information about your book:

Title: _____

Author: _____

Illustrator: _____

3. What did you like about the book?

4. What do you know about African American culture after reading this book?

5. Who else might like to read this book and why?
